

EP. 133 TRACEY BRADY YURKO

WITH HOST DON YAEGER

(5:55) When you take a golf lesson or a ski lesson, you pay that person to tell you _____, and if they didn't tell you that, you wouldn't feel like you got your money's worth. In Corporate America we lose some of that. Engrain understanding strengths and weaknesses into your culture.

(12:00) Reflection Question: What is your "superpower" or "secret weapon" in life?

(14:00) Once you have that shared mission, that shared thing you are working toward together as a team, that is when I go to knowing each others strengths and weaknesses so you are putting each person on the team in the best spot to contribute as much as they can to the whole. For that to really work there needs to be _____.

(15:45) When you get that feedback — whether you agree with it or not, and you don't always agree with it — _____. It is not easy for people to deliver hard feedback.

(26:25) I learned how to figure stuff out. I learned how to ask the right questions to get the experts involved. You have to be _____ not being good at stuff, and that is ok. Put yourself in places where you are uncomfortable, where you have to figure out how to do something.

Bring Don Yaeger's inspiration and tools for culture transformation to your team!

Connect with us here: <http://maxwellleadership.com/don>

Answers:

what you are doing wrong
trust
thank people for it
comfortable

PERSONAL GROWTH DAY

MONDAY MARCH 13

JOHN C.
MAXWELL

SEAN MCDERMOTT

TRACI MORROW

CHRIS HODGES

VALORIE BURTON

PAT LENCIONI

LIZ FORKIN BOHANNON

USE COUPON CODE GREATNESS TO RECEIVE 10% OFF YOUR ENTRY

RESERVE YOUR TICKETS TODAY

SCAN ME

